NANKING OUTLAWS LIBERAL DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE

Participation In Communist Revolt Said To Be "Well Known" LARGE-SCALE ARRESTS EXPECTED

Nanking, Oct. 28. The Chinese Government today outlawed the Liberal Democratic League, its minority party opposition. An Interior Ministry spokesman said that the action was taken because of activities of League members "that were calculated to overthrow the Government."

A Government Information Office spokesman predicted large-scale arrests of Democratic League members, particularly in Shanghai, in Formosa, and in cities where Leaguers "openly make anti-Government propaganda and protect Communist spies."

He declined to say whether the League's Nanking spokesman, Lu Lang-chi, would be arrested, but he indicated that the Government might not bother with him if he lives peacefully.

The Interior Ministry spokesman said the League's participation in the "Communist revolt" against the Government already was well-known to the Chinese people and that the Government had to apply "regulations for treatment of Communists in the rear" to League members, in order to preserve peace.

This spokesman blamed the League for seeking to instigate a revolt against the Government in Manchuria, for student agitation in China proper and for Shanghai's labour troubles.

No Opposition
Shanghai, Oct. 28. The banning of the Democratic League leaves Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang party with virtually no opposition inside Nationalist-controlled areas in China.

The Democratic League was the nation's third largest political party, its membership never has been made public because, through its life of Government suppression, it was estimated, however, that it numbered little more than 50,000 actual rank and file, in contrast to the approximately 2,000,000 claimed by the Kuomintang and Communists.

Though small, it is an intellectual elite. Under its banner are the most important writers, professors, artists, students and, curiously enough, a number of prominent industrialists.

The party has recently loudly demanded the end of the civil war, urged Government land reforms and accused Government of denying civil liberties to its members.

Its chief spokesman is Michel-gon, educated Lu Lang-chi who, despite threats and Government displeasure, never ceased voicing opposition to Nanking war and political measures.

The League was instrumental in bringing the Kuomintang and Communists together into 1945, took a leading share in drafting the now-neglected resolutions aimed at nationalising Chinese party armies, democratising the Government and restoring communications.

Its Heyday
This was its heyday. Thousands throughout China were unwilling to support other major parties allied its ranks.

Snub-Nosed June Smith

London, Oct. 28. Snub-nosed June Smith was born during the blitz but it didn't sour her disposition.

June was known as soon as she could walk through her home town of Hereford, Derbyshire, as a girl with a "sweet disposition."

Time to her reputation she helped an aged, blind man cross the street. John Wilken, 74, thanked her and felt his way down the sidewalk with his white cane.

He did not know that behind him lay the body of a six-year-old child run over by a speeding automobile.

Snub-nosed June Smith was buried today.—United Press.

"Arab Legion" In Palestine Defended

London, Oct. 27. The presence of the "Arab Legion" in Palestine—owing allegiance to King Abdullah of Transjordan—was defended in the House of Commons today by Mr. Christopher Mayhew, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Replying to a question by Mr. Barnett Janney, Chairman of the British Zionists Federation, Mr. Mayhew said that the mandate provided that the Palestine administration might organise on a voluntary basis the forces necessary for the preservation of law and order.

The employment of part of the armed forces of Transjordan in Palestine, Mr. Mayhew said, began when Transjordan was under British mandate and had continued since Transjordan became an independent state with no formal agreement, but with the consent of King Abdullah, which was much appreciated by the British Government.

Asked by Mr. Janney whether it was not inadvisable to have these Arab forces in Palestine, Mr. Mayhew replied: "They are perfectly loyal to the policy of the Government."

The Jews
There was no reply when Mr. Richard Stokes, Labour, asked if Mr. Janney also favoured clearing Jewish forces out of Palestine.

Questioned about the activities of the Muttif of Jerusalem, now in the Lebanon, Mr. Mayhew said that the Lebanon Government "have undertaken to restrain the Muttif from taking embarrassing action against us."—Reuter.

Supported by aircraft, the Nationalists are said to be pursuing the Communists at Kuo-shanpu, 25 miles northeast of Kiangling.

In Manchuria, desperate fighting is still raging at Hsiao-fangman, upon whose huge hydroelectric power plant a large area of Manchuria depends for light and power.

Greatly outnumbered, the Government garrison, after withstanding six days of round-the-clock attacks, is said to be urgently in need of reinforcements if the vital plant is to be saved.

In South-East Jehol, the situation has eased slightly for the Government around the Peking area, when Government troops captured Shuiyuan, near Peiping.

In South Shansi, Government troops are reported to have lifted the week-old siege of Yungcheng in a surprise thrust, and are now pursuing the badly mauled Red forces.—Reuter.

Rival To Blue Beard

Tokyo, Oct. 28. A married man, taken into custody by the police in connection with the murder of young women, confessed today to the sex-slaying of eight of them.

Katsujii Tsuji, 34-year-old employee of the Finance Ministry's printing department, was taken into custody on suspicion of murdering 18-year-old Fujiko Hasegawa, whose mutilated and strangled corpse was found in a lonely plot last month.

Tsuji was said to have admitted the slayings after a police grilling.

The sex maniac was said to have followed a practice of luring young girls to lonely places, such as burnt out plots and graveyards, and robbing or robbing them by threatening them with a dagger.

The police believe that Tsuji killed at least 10 women and raped and robbed 20 others.

It will be recalled the notorious "Blue Beard" Yoshio Kodaira, was recently sentenced to death for raping and murdering 13 women.—United Press.

When Jew Meets Jew

Jerusalem, Oct. 28. Street fighting broke out again today in Tel-Aviv between Hagana and Irgun Zvai-Leumi after Irgunists used automatic weapons and scare-bombs to cover up their theft of two taxi cabs from a parking lot.

The taxis were stolen presumably for attacks against Hagana. A 50-year-old Hagana leader was seriously beaten by 15 Irgunists who invaded his home.

The local press reported heavy British troop movements from Palestine to Transjordan.—United Press.

"Birth Of A Baby"

Cambridge, Oct. 28. Staid and reserved Cambridge caused a cinematographic ripple today by certifying the American film "The Birth of a Baby" as suitable for showing to children as well as adults.

Under British cinema regulations, a Board of Review classifies films as "A" (for adults only), "B" (for universal showing, including children) and "S."

"The Birth of a Baby" showing for several weeks in London, was classified as an "A" picture in the capital. It depicts the actual birth of a baby.

The Cambridge Board of Review, including three married men, three married women and the town's Chief Constable, "saw no reason" why the picture should not be exhibited to children.—United Press.

Jap Gen. Arrested

Singapore, Oct. 28. Lieut-General Takezo Numata, who commanded the Japanese Southern Army at the close of the war, was arrested today as a suspected war criminal as he was about to board the Japanese ship "Kizai Maru" for repatriation to Japan.

A British War Crimes spokesman said Numata was arrested for the American authorities who wish to question him concerning the alleged use of Red Cross vessels for transporting men, arms and fuel in Dutch East Indies waters.

Numata signed the surrender documents when Japanese forces surrendered in Singapore. Since then, he has been responsible for the administration of all Japanese surrendered personnel in south-east Asia.

He is being held in prison for escort to Japan, under arrest.—Associated Press.

NEAR LYNCHING

Aberdeen, Miss., Oct. 28. John Lloyd, 43, negro, is recovering in an Aberdeen hospital following a near lynching by a mob of 30 to 40 white men.

He was arrested—and then freed as a suspect in an attempted sex attack on an elderly white woman. He was seized by a mob on Sunday night, beaten and shot in the chest and arm.—United Press.

Ramadier Prepares For Showdown

Paris, Oct. 28. Socialist Premier Ramadier, disregarding General de Gaulle's demand for the immediate dissolution of Parliament and the holding of new elections, moved toward a showdown battle today for the life of his newly formed streamlined Government as he prepared to go before the special National Assembly to ask for a vote of confidence.

The Assembly is to meet today to hear the elderly Premier present his confidence vote demand.

His chances of remaining in power appeared good early today.

Mr. Ramadier will take with him the backing of his own Socialist Party plus that of the previously doubtful Popular Republican Movement (MRP).

Meeting in a lengthy MRP session last night the MRP Executive Committee decided to back Ramadier, declaring: "During the present period of economic and social tension division of the constitution and dissolution of the Assembly would provoke risks of interior disorders."

The MRP Executive Committee also issued orders forbidding its members from joining the "Inter-Group for the Defence of True Democracy"—de Gaulle's Assembly group.

It is still not known just what stand the Communists will take in today's Assembly meeting but the Party has officially pledged itself to block "de Gaulle 'at all costs.'"

There is a possibility the Communists might abstain from voting rather than vote against Ramadier.—Associated Press.

Approved
Paris, Oct. 20. Premier Ramadier's middle-of-the-road Cabinet approved today the fighting reply to General de Gaulle which the Socialist Premier is to deliver this afternoon in the National Assembly.

Internal Minister Dejeu said Ramadier had outlined to the Cabinet the "defence of the Fourth Republic" he intends to make in answer to de Gaulle's call on Monday for dissolution of Parliament and subsequent new elections.

Deputies favourable to the de Gaulle measure met at the Assembly and appointed two committees to work out means of answering the General's appeal for revision of the French Constitution and to recruit new members.—Associated Press.

Rail Crash Toll Rises

Goswick, Oct. 27. The death toll in yesterday's railway smash near Berwick-on-Tweed rose tonight to 24 when another body was found underneath the wreckage 24 hours after the Edinburgh to London express had gone off the rails and had hurled down an embankment.

A seventy-one people were injured, and three women among the dead were still unidentified.—Reuter.

MASTER TERRORIST HANGED

The Kwok-wah, described by the Chief Justice at the Sessions as "the master mind" in a "diabolical organisation," was hanged at Stanley Prison yesterday morning.

He was sentenced to death for the murder of a girl as a result of a bomb explosion at the Ko Shing Theatre on March 1. He was leader of a terrorist organisation which had been threatening theatres and restaurants in the Colony.

Later in the day an inquest was held at Central Magistracy when a verdict of death by judicial hanging was returned. Mr. F. X. d'Almeida sat as Coroner.

Reported Deadlock In Anglo-Chinese Treaty Talks

London, Oct. 28. Questioned regarding a report in the Sunday Observer that a decision had been reached in London that the Anglo-Chinese treaty negotiations be postponed indefinitely, a British Foreign Office spokesman declared that there was no truth in the report and that the resumption of the treaty is now pending.

The spokesman explained that delay in the negotiations is because:—

- (1) Many British communities and small British interests are at stake and all of them have to be consulted and
 - (2) British trade experts are too busy with the Charter of the International Trade Organisation in Geneva and to its deliberations.
- He also denied as "absolutely untrue" the statement in the Sunday Observer that the resumption of the treaty talks is conditional on a change of attitude on the part of the Chinese Government.

He concluded by saying that the British Embassy had received no report confirming or denying the Ta Kung Pao's information.—Central News and Reuter-AAP.

Another British Headache

London, Oct. 28. A Treasury spokesman conceded today that the only new convertibility agreement completed by Britain since she suspended the exchange of sterling for dollars on August 21 will have to be revised before it goes into effect.

Both British and American sources have indicated that Britain cannot hope to draw the last $400,000,000 of the American loan until she has renegotiated the majority of 22 convertibility agreements in effect since August 21.

Collision In Fog

London, Oct. 27. The 6,458-ton Swedish motor vessel Saga, of Gothenburg, was in a collision with the Dutch motor vessel Hag outside Gothenburg port in a thick fog today, according to a Lloyds report.

Both vessels are now in port with slight damage.—Reuter.

Ancient Law Suit Crops Up

London, Oct. 28. Britain's contention for the ancient litigation record cropped up in court again today for the 22nd year.

It was the will of Gaspar Francis Bernard, who died in 1696 and whose will disposing of his estate got into the courts in 1728.

Today the court was asked to redistribute the share of one of three present-day beneficiaries who has died.

The survivors are Michael Bernard and his son Cyril.—United Press.

SOVIET ATTACK ON U.S. BEATEN BY UNO

London, Oct. 28.
The Diesel engines for the Hong Kong Cooperative fishing fleet are awaiting shipment from Britain.
They were brought through the Anglo-Chinese Development Society which has done so much during the past years for the Cooperative movement in China.
The Development Society is losing its able Secretary, Mr. Laurie Pavitt.
The loss of the post of Administrative Educational Officer of the Cooperative Union in London.
The activities of the Society are being curtailed because of uncertainty of the future.
It is expected that the I.C. in Hong Kong will appoint a London agent to continue temporarily the activities of the Society.

Obstacle

"I cannot agree to that policy. It is one obstacle which has divided ourselves and Russia all the way through.

"I have taken another line in the name of the British Government that if the economic unity of Germany is re-established and the level of industry is raised, at whatever level it may be, or even without one, the first charge on German economy ought to be the repayment of money we have paid in to keep them alive during this critical period.

"I think that is a much more realistic claim than current reparations."

"We said at Moscow that we could not stand disagreement any longer about the level of industry, and if no one else could agree, the Americans and the British must fix something to work upon"—Reuter.

Whitehall expected a British reply to be sent within the next few days, and predicted that it would state that Mr. Bevin was "entitled to receive whomsoever he pleases."

Inasmuch as the latest Spanish protest is couched in more forceful language than the first on this subject, it was predicted that Mr. Bevin might take the opportunity to restate the British attitude for the current Spanish Government.

A Foreign Office source said, "Our attitude toward the Franco regime is well known and you may be sure that Mr. Bevin will permit nothing to interfere with his complete freedom of action to follow the proper course."

The exact field covered by Mr. Bevin's talk with the exile leaders, including Colonel Gil Robles, is held for speculation in the British capital.

Much credence was given in diplomatic quarters to reports

"There is absolutely nothing left of the imputation of warmongering by the United States, Greece and Turkey," he said.

"It is wonderful to have us all vote the same way," Austin said.

"I hope that it is a sign of a change in atmosphere here," Reuter and Associated Press.

chief, Mr. G. Beveridge, personally shot dead the leader of a Chinese secret society during a police raid early today.

Another member of the

The 28-year-old leader,

Baring German Secrets

London, Oct. 28.

The Foreign Office
spokesman said today that a team of Anglo-American experts were compiling a "selection from the archives of the German Foreign Office"
—a selection which may shed additional light on the Russo-German negotiations in 1940.

The documents due for eventual publication were originally selected because of their academic interest," he added, but hinted that "in view of recent attacks upon us by M.
Vishinsky the basis of the selection may be changed."
"I know of no intention to alter the basis of the selection unless it is made necessary by actions of M. Vishinsky," he said.—United Press.

DID REDS CAUSE U.S. PLANE CRASH?

Washington, Oct. 28.

Senator Owen Brewster today indicated that he believed sabotage by Communists might have been responsible for the Utah airplane crash, in which 52 were killed, and for the vast New England fires.

Senator Brewster told the United Press he had asked Carl Dolan, special assistant investigator of the Senate Aviation Sub-Committee, for which Senator Brewster is chairman, to look into the Utah airline crash
"at once" including the possibility that sabotage was involved.

He suggested also that sabotage might have been involved in the forest fires in Maine.

"We never had anything like it," he said. "There are a good many indications of the fires having been set."—United Press.

RUHR COAL MINES TO RETURN TO U. S. STAND ON CHINA ELECTIONS GERMAN HANDS "Change-Over As Soon As Possible"

Washington, Oct. 28.

United States officials told the United Press today that the question of legality of Chinese nationals in the United States voting in the Chinese general elections in November depended on a large extent on the manner in which balloting was made.

These officials said that whereas they believed balloting by mail by Chinese nationals in the United States would be perfectly legal, direct political campaigning and the use of ballot boxes here might be considered infringement on United States sovereignty.

They said jokingly, however,
"If the Chinese did conduct a political campaign here we might never know about it."—

2 Girl Atom Workers Found Dead

Santa Fe, Oct. 27.

Two girl secretaries at the Los Alamos atomic energy project have been found dead on the 13,275 feet Truchas Peak, New Mexico's highest mountain, where they had been trapped since Saturday, a radio report received here said today.

The girls were found after a rescue party of police and soldiers, summoned by their guide, had climbed the icy slopes in a bid to save them.

One girl had slid several hundred feet down the mountain side and was so badly bruised that she had been unable to move.—Reuter.

Sergeant's Wife Killed By Carbine

Berlin, Oct. 28.
Army detectives held William Calder, 31-year-old Master Sergeant from Lancaster, New York, under observation in a military hospital today in connection with the midnight slaying of his wife, Anna May.

The woman died en route to hospital from a carbine wound in the head. The slaying occurred about 12.40 this morning in front of Calder's home near Tempelhof airfield.

The Army Criminal Investigation Division, after 15 hours of investigation, said the Calders had entertained two Americans, master sergeant William Duncan and staff sergeant Robert Strom, and a German girl and a man. Later the entire group went to Duncan's home.
Calder returned early. Later,

London, Oct. 27.
The Foreign Office announced tonight that the recommendations to hand over the management of the Ruhr coal mines to German hands under the direction of the Anglo-United States Control Group, made at the conference of experts in Washington last month, have been approved by the British and United States Governments.

Earlier it was authoritatively learned that Britain, France and the United States had approved the final communiqué of the Anglo-France-United States conference in Berlin, called to settle outstanding questions on the future allocation of Ruhr coal and to discuss further French demands for increased deliveries of German coke to French industry.

Anxious

The British and the United States Foreign Offices, the announcement said, are anxious that the recommendations dealing with production and management "should be put into effect as soon as an exchange of views now taking place with the French, Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg Governments has been concluded."

It was reliably learned that to meet the objections raised by these countries regarding mines previously owned by their citizens, Britain and the United States had offered to appoint nationalists of these countries to manage any mines of whose capital they owned the majority.

It was believed that the end of these exchanges—and the consequent appointment of a new German management and of the bizonal control group—was impending within a matter of days.

Plan

The approval of the Washington recommendations refers not only to the plan for German management, but to such measures as the question of food stocks for the Ruhr, the handling over of the housing programme for the miners to the new management with priority claims on materials and special steel imports for urgent repairs of the Ruhr transport system to ensure that an increased coal output can be effectively distributed.

The announcement said that the British and American Commanders-in-Chief of Germany have been instructed to take immediate steps to put the recommendations into operation.—Reuter.

Persian Move To Occupy Bahrein?

Teheran, Oct. 28.

Persian deputies are reported yesterday by the paper Dard to have drafted a bill instructing the Government to send troops and civil officials to Bahrein
"to reestablish Persian sovereignty there."

Bahrein, the important oil-producing island in the Persian Gulf, has the status of an independent Sheikhdom in its treaty relations with Britain.

Persia has made intermittent claims to the island, but Britain has never recognized them as valid.

The draft bill, which, according to Dard, was not signed, was prepared at a private meeting of the deputies yesterday.

Dard also says that the Soviet Embassy in Teheran has asked the Persian Foreign Office for the text of the Prime Minister, Ghassem Es-Sultaneh's report to the Majlis last week on the Soviet-Persian oil negotiations and the text of the debate which followed.

These resulted in the Majlis declaring to forbid the granting of any oil concessions.

Another Soviet move, which has made Persian opinion apprehensive was the absence of M. Sadchikov from today's congratulatory ceremony to mark the birthday of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, which was attended by all Persian dignitaries and the members of the diplomatic corps.

Out of the 25 members of the Soviet Embassy in the Foreign Office list, only five were at the ceremony.—

GERMANS WAIT FOR WINTER IN FEAR

New York, Oct. 28.

Bishop Dibelius of the German Evangelical Church, who is making a two-month tour in the United States, says, "Germans expect the coming winter to be the worst in their lives."

The Bishop said: "In cities like Berlin, nearly 2,000 people every month die by starvation and malnutrition, and during last winter an equal number died from cold."

"It was quite the usual thing for people to wake up in the morning in an unheated room. Having gone to bed in their clothing, they felt in the morning that the clothing was frozen to the bed. Many children and adults, not being strong enough to endure the situation, were frozen to death."—Associated Press.

NO LABOUR DRIVE ON REDS

London, Oct. 27.

The Labour Government today flatly rejected the Opposition demand for a Commons Committee on un-British activities and outlawing of the Communist Party.

The Lord President of the Council, Mr. Herbert Morrison, Government leader in the House,
shouted "No" when Sir Waldron Smithers (Cons) asked if the Prime Minister would set up a Committee on the lines of the American Congressional Committee on un-American activities.

Sir Waldron pressed Mr. Morrison: "May I ask the Prime Minister, in view of the rapidly increasing menace of Communist infiltration, if he will come out into the open and introduce a bill to outlaw Communists and sequester their funds and have a showdown before it is too late?"

Laughter swept the House, which includes two Communist Members.

Morrison replied: "The answer is still no. It seems to me that political parties can take care of Communists. We are not afraid of them and I do not see why the Member should be. Why he should exclude other subversive interests I do not know."—United

NEW SUBURB FOR LISBON

Lisbon, Oct. 28.

In order to solve the housing shortage a new suburb is being built for Lisbon. It will be called New Lisbon and is situated in the area of the Avenida Afonso Henriques, near Lisbon airport.

Blocks of flats to house 31,000 families totalling 50,000 people at economical rents are being built.

In addition there will be 9,500 homes, either in blocks of flats or detached houses, the rents of which will not be limited.

Lisbon Municipal Council is also planning the building of 2,000 bungalows for one family with a low rental and another 2,000 family bungalows at non-limited rents.

The plans for the new suburb include elementary and secondary schools and colleges, churches and social centres which will cater for the needs of all the inhabitants.

Facilities have been granted the Lisbon railway, bus and electric tramway companies to run services between Lisbon and the new satellite town.—United Press.

"ITALY WILL NEVER BE RED": SFORZA

London, Oct. 27.

Count Carlo Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, who arrived here tonight to meet the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Ernest Bevin, declared that Italy would never become a Communist state.

Count Sforza is in Britain to discuss matters of mutual interest to Italy and Britain which are expected to include possible revision of the Italian peace treaty and the future of former Italian colonies in Africa.

HK. DOCTOR TESTIFIES AT YOKOHAMA WAR TRIAL

Prosecution witness, Dr. A. W. Dawson-Grove of Hong Kong, formerly a naval commander and doctor interned at the Shinagawa Hospital Prisoner of War Camp in Tokyo under "Mad Doctor" Hisakichi Tokuda, testified under direct examination at the latter's trial in Yokohama.

Dr. Dawson-Grove was interned at the Shinagawa Hospital from May 1944, until the termination of the war, serving as a physician under Tokuda.

Not His Brother's Keeper?

"I don't want to have anything further to do with him. He is better in jail," said Chan Pul, 34, to Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr at Kowloon yesterday when his younger brother, Chan Lok, was charged with larceny of $150 and four ration tickets on Oct. 15.

Defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour. Sub-Inspector J. S. Howarth, prosecuting, stated that complainant (Chan Pul) and his foka were away from his shop when defendant broke a wooden case with a chisel, and stole $150 and four ration tickets.

The following day, defendant asked his brother for a loan of $1,000. At the same time he returned the four ration tickets to a koi.

Chan Pul reported to the Mong Kok Police Station and defendant was arrested.

THOSE WHO HAVE NEVER PLAYED GOLF—

as a physician under Tokuda. The witness related how Tokuda, not satisfied with his human experiments on internees, also vented his anger on prisoners by slapping and kicking them for the slightest offense.

One Australian prisoner developed an ulcer of the eye after Tokuda struck him across the face for apparently not saluting quickly enough, said the witness. Private Ralph Knox also had a swelling on his leg after being kicked by Tokuda for the same offense.

During a heavy daylight air raid on nearby Kawanishi, an American prisoner, S/Sgt. James E. Etheridge was discovered picking up cigarette butts in a Japanese office by Tokuda, the witness stated.

Etheridge was slapped several times and ordered confined for 24 hours without food. As duty officer for the day Dr. Dawson-Grove was forced to stand for about five hours at attention atop the air raid shelter, although the bombing had resumed, the witness testified.

In another incident, two prisoners, Etheridge and a Dutch captain, were discovered in the camp storeroom eating bread during a particularly heavy air raid. They were tied up and confined to the guard house with wire for five days in a very painful position, said the witness. Tokuda was the only officer present during this incident. Following their release, the two prisoners were carried from confinement on stretchers.

The Dutchman's wrist had been so tightly bound that he subsequently lost complete control of his left hand. He was later killed in an air raid.

Dr. Dawson-Grove first came in contact with Tokuda's pulmonary tuberculosis cure in November of 1944. It was a white powder called caprylic acid, which was mixed with distilled water and injected intravenously. The witness testified that he was ordered by Tokuda to administer this drug.

In small doses, said Dr. Dawson-Grove, the patients experienced a mild choking sensation, and since they were not improving from the treatment, they did not appreciate Tokuda's efforts to advance science. When the supply of caprylic acid was reduced due to the bombing of the factory making the powder, Tokuda supplemented the drug by preparing an emulsion formed by mixing bile from amebic dysenteric patients with the acid. This mixture was another of the injections given to prisoner-of-war patients.

The burning of a live tree in Cameron Road at 4.00 p.m. yesterday brought one fire appliance from Kowloon Fire Station to the scene. Only the first aid appliance was used to extinguish the blaze, the origin of which was not known.

THE CASE OF
YU SHEUNG

When, in our Sunday Journal, we published an exposure of Government's shabby treatment of T.H.-riddled Police Constable Yu Sheung, the stirring of public sympathy was no part of our intention. The real object was to set out the facts in such a way as to arouse public opinion to exert itself and shame the Government into appropriate action, into cutting free of the red tape approach to human problems such as his case presents, and giving a new deal to local pensioners generally. Gratifyingly, the public has taken the matter out of our hands and several subscriptions, ranging from $100 (incidentally contributed by a Government servant) to $10 have been sent into this office to be applied to the benefit of Yu Sheung. Acting instinctively, these generous subscribers are undoubtedly pointing the immediate need, for while Government may be induced eventually to rectify a grim inadequacy, the movements of the Government machine are notoriously slow, and in the meantime, the victim suffers. While, therefore, we hesitate to launch a formal appeal for donations, the "China Mail" will have the greatest pleasure in handling this publicly-created fund, and in endeavouring to ensure that it is utilized to the utmost advantage. The subscription list to date is as follows:

Total $200

This pleasing response to disclosure of the pensioner's plight cannot, of course, relieve the Government of its obligations. Whatever the final total may happen to be, it will still be necessary to insist that the Government does deep injury to itself in adhering to and attempting to justify a formula which it should honestly acknowledge to be grossly unreasonable in view of present-day living costs. Eight dollars a month would have been no more than a miserable pittance in 1941. In 1947, it is little short of infamous. In a statement issued yesterday afternoon, an official spokesman for the Government endeavours to gloss the case, and to plead that when the Salaries Commission Report has been approved, Yu Sheung will materially benefit. As a pattern of euphemistic extension, the statement could hardly be improved upon. From a legalistic point of view, in interpretation of the existing pension law, it is exemplary. But none of the essential facts are changed. What differences appear arise largely from the way the facts are conveniently set out. What cannot be got over is that Yu Sheung was invalided out on a miserable pension of $8.62 monthly, that he appealed in his distress to the Police Surgeon and that that worthy officer had to exert his influence to obtain accommodation in the charity ward of the Tung Wah Hospital. The source of the hospital's funds is, beside the point. The real issue is to be found in Government's own admission that "investigations conducted prior to the war convinced Government that the salaries of subordinate police officers were inadequate." After that, to claim in a spirit of righteousness, that Government continues to stretch the existing pension law to the limit, is to make mockery of good sense. We certainly have yet to be convinced that it is impossible for Government to seek approval of a money vote in Legislative Council, of a nature authorising the Treasury to do simple justice in such cases. Medical opinion is that Yu Sheung is a dying man. Time can hardly wait upon the production of that almost forgotten document, the Salaries Commission Report.

HOW PRINCESS ELIZABETH'S MARRIAGE IS PLANNED

STAGING THE ROYAL WEDDING

By Louis Wulff, M.V.O.

Two important factors make the preparations for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth to Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten at Westminster Abbey on November 20 different from those made for any previous Royal wedding. First, the Princess is Heiress Presumptive to the Throne, and the marriage of a King's daughter who is also his heiress has no precedent within memory; in addition to which, Princess Elizabeth is heiress not only to the Crown of England, but, under the Statute of Westminster, equally heiress to the crowns of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa, which in itself is a matter of great importance and renders it essential that Commonwealth interests should be taken into account at every stage of the planning.

Second factor, of a less pleasant kind, is represented by that word austerity. In postwar Britain, even the wedding of the King's daughter cannot escape from the general and imperative need for the saving of labour and material, and to reconcile these two conflicting factors is one of the complications that add to the task of those entrusted by the King with the arrangements for the marriage ceremony and the subsequent drives and rejoicings. Princess Elizabeth's wedding is a great occasion of history and this must be the dominant consideration in the minds of the planners. But neither the Princess nor her parents are in the least lovers of ostentation, which makes the introduction of reasonable austerity restrictions much easier.

General Order

The first general order given by the King about the wedding was that it is to be a "semi-State" affair. This means that, though the full ritual of a Royal wedding will be observed, there will be less ceremonial than if it were a full State occasion. The most important and obvious effect of this ruling is that the dress—the elaborate gold-lace tunic, knee-length and cocked hats of full ceremony—will not be worn by men guests. Instead, morning clothes, Service uniform, or even lounge suits will be the correct wear for men, while women will wear afternoon gowns with hats. Choice of whether skirts shall be long or short is left to the discretion of the wearer.

In Charge Of Details

In complete charge of all the arrangements for the wedding apart from the actual religious service within the Abbey is the Lord Chamberlain, the chief member of the Royal Household, who wears on the tail of his ceremonial Court tunic an embroidered key, to signify that the keys of the Sovereign's residence are in his charge. The Earl of Clarendon, who has been Lord Chamberlain since 1935, has not had previous experience of arranging a Royal wedding. The marriages of the Duke of Gloucester and the late Duke of Kent occurred during the term of office of his predecessor, Lord Cromer. But 70-year-old Lord Clarendon has a reputation for never having overlooked a single detail in any of the hundreds of Court functions he has organised, and nowhere in Britain could you find a more suitable man for the great task he has now in hand. Assisting him is a staff, small in number, but excellent in efficiency and experience of Court ceremonial, with Colonel Sir Terence Nugent, the tall Irish Guards officer who was Brigade Major of the London Command during World War II at its head as Comptroller, and another tall and distinguished soldier, Brigadier Gwatkin of the Coldstream Guards as Deputy Comptroller. From their offices in St. James's Palace, these three men are, with the King's full approval, directing every detail of the processions from the Palace to the Abbey and back, the issuing of invitations and the seating inside the Abbey, and many other cognate matters. From time to time, when difficult points arise, or when some question crops up for which there is no precedent to give guidance, Lord Clarendon seeks the King's pleasure or consults the Queen and the Princess on their wishes. One of the interesting things about this wedding is that there is no exact precedent, for the marriage of Queen Victoria to Prince Albert took place when she was Queen, and not Heiress Apparent, and the wedding of the Sovereign, like his Coronation and burial, are matters that are dealt with not by the Lord Chamberlain, but by the Earl Marshal of England, the Duke of Norfolk, who arranged the Coronation of the present King, and who many people suppose, wrongly, to be arranging the Princess's wedding. Actually the Duke of Norfolk has no part in the preparations, and will attend the marriage only as a guest.

Other invitations go to those with certain social precedence, to representatives of various charities and other organisations with which either the Bride or the Bridegroom is connected, while a certain few are reserved for old family servants. The general public cannot, obviously, be admitted within the Abbey, and because of the shortage of timber and labour, there will not be any special stands erected along the route.

Ancient Writ

Provisions of these stands or other accommodation for the public, and any alterations in the Abbey, fall within the province of another authority, the Ministry of Works, which is responsible for all such matters. The third authority connected with the wedding is the Dean of Westminster, Canon Don, whose writ in his own Abbey runs, in accordance with ancient ecclesiastical law, even before that of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who will almost certainly carry out the marriage service, assisted by the Archbishop of York.

These are some of the official preparations for the wedding. Beside these, there are going forward all the usual pre-marriage preparations, the choosing of bridesmaids, selection of bridesmaids, honeymoon decisions and so on, as in the case of any bride-to-be, but complicated in this case by reason of the fact that "H.R.H. the Bride" is also as Heiress Presumptive "the chief person of the Realm, next to the Sovereign."

PRINCESS'S WEDDING GUESTS DECIDED

London, Oct. 23.—Britain's first family after much pruning of lists and worrying over many necessary exclusions has finally made up its mind about Princess Elizabeth's wedding guests.

The coveted invitations have been distributed to some 2,000 of the select, it was learned.

For months the Royal Household has been combing through columns of eligible, knowing that three and four times the number of persons that can be fitted into Westminster Abbey hoped to be invited and that widespread disappointment was inevitable.

The bids went out piecemeal under a news blackout imposed by the Lord Chamberlain's Department.

Although the names of many of the higher-ranking invited guests became known eventually, official sources here had nothing to do with the disclosures.

No Gate-Crashers

There will not be a chance of anyone crashing in on the ceremony.

Blackmarketeers have been eager to pay small fortunes for a few of the cards or even one of them, but they have found the invitations beyond their grasp and impossible to counterfeit successfully.

Picked Scotland Yard men will double check every invitation at the Abbey gates making certain of each guest's identity. The cards are not transferable.

Honeymoon

Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten will divide their honeymoon between the New Forest, Hampshire, and the highlands of Scotland.

Part of the honeymoon will be spent at Broadlands, near Romsey, home of Lord and Lady Mountbatten, Philip's uncle and aunt, and part at Birkhall, near Balmoral, Scotland.

There has been no indication of the length of the honeymoon.

It was also announced tonight that Princess Elizabeth's wedding gifts will go on display to the public for a small admission fee 10 days before the Royal Wedding in Westminster Abbey, on Nov. 20.

NEW HOPE FOR CANCER VICTIMS

Synthesis of a recently discovered vitamin that has caused regressions of spontaneous breast cancers in 43 per cent of experimental animals injected with the substance was announced at the fourth International Cancer Research Congress.

The animal tests were carried out by a group headed by Dr. Richard Lewisholm at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York. The synthesis of the vitamin, a new member of the Folvite group known as pteroyl-tri-glutamic acid, was accomplished at the Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N.Y., by a team of scientists headed by Dr. Brian L. Hutchings.

Dr. Lewisholm also reported on preliminary clinical tests with the new vitamin on a selected number of cancer patients with results described as "promising" in at least one case so far.

Three conclusions can be drawn from the work at the present stage, after nine months of observations," Dr. Farber, the cancer authority said. "Firstly, the substance is apparently non-toxic in daily doses of twenty to 500 milligrams. Secondly, the material has not been used long enough to permit any conclusions. Thirdly, our group has seen enough change to justify further work."

The new substance is the third member of the Folvite family to be synthesized within the past two years, all of the Lederle Laboratories of the American Cyanamid Company. The molecule of the first Folvite to be synthesized consists of a chemical combination of three natural substances:

1. Pterin, a substance first isolated from the wings of butterflies.
2. Glutamic Acid—the only amino acid utilized by the brain and was recently found to aid mentally-retarded children in raising their I.Q.
3. Para-Amino-Benzic Acid, or PABA, recently found to possess therapeutic properties against typhus.

The two new types of Folvite recently synthesized are: Pteroyl-Di-glutamic Acid and Tri-glutamic Acid. The tri-glutamic acid form was first isolated in 1943 from a bacillus related to the organism causing diphtheria.

Both the di-glutamic and the tri-glutamic forms have been found to exert an inhibiting effect on cancer growth. In his original experiments on mice, Dr. Lewisholm used concentrates of the natural tri-glutamic Folvite. His data showed that intravenous injections of five micrograms of the substance "led to complete disappearance in thirty-eight of eighty-nine spontaneous breast tumours, whereas no tumours disappeared in sixty animals used as controls." Furthermore, he found that "fourteen of the control animals developed new tumours, whereas only one new tumour was observed among the treated mice."

The patient, a 52-year-old man, had undergone an operation for a malignant tumour on the left side of the neck. The operation consisted in partial removal of the tumour with ligation of the external carotid artery. Subsequent X-ray treatment had failed to stop continued growth of the mass. The pains were most severe, so much so that the patient could not sleep or eat solid foods. The mass was so tender that even the slightest touch caused excruciating pains. The patient required large doses of morphine. He had lost about ten pounds in weight. The left vocal cord and the left side of his soft palate were immobile.

Treatment with pteroyl-tri-glutamic acid was started on June 20, 1947. Daily doses of five milligrams were given intramuscularly.

Examination on August 14 showed the following: "The mass in the neck had disappeared completely. His pain has practically gone. He eats solid food without any difficulty in swallowing. The tenderness on palpation is gone. The voice has improved a great deal. The soft palate on the left side now moves as well as on the right side. The left vocal cord is still immobile. He has gained twelve pounds in weight."

"The Authority on Authorities"

MAKE ALL 26 CARDS AID

Just as during the auction, the fine bidder strives to reach the spot best adapted to his side's 26 cards, so the fine defensive player concentrates upon making his partner's 26 cards do the best possible job. That includes a proper amount of emphasis on helping his partner's hand to take tricks. The weaker defensive player is nearly always more bent on developing tricks in his own hand. In fact, that feature constitutes the main difference between a stiff defender and an average one—that effort to develop trick-takers across the table as contrasted with those on his own side of it.

300 Firemen Fight Big London Blaze

London, Oct. 27.
Three hundred firemen using 50 pumps battled tonight against a huge blaze sweeping a 8,000-ton dump of rubber resin and oil at a Barking, East London, riverside wharf.

After four hours, the fire was reported to be under control, but it was estimated that it would burn for several days.

The thick pall of jet-black smoke spread over Eastern London and could be seen five miles away.—Reuter.

Silence On Death Of Actress

Southampton, Oct. 28.
Thick legal silence settled on Monday over the mystery of actress Eileen "Gay" Gibson, who vanished from a ship in her nightgown.

James Camb, 30-year-old dock stevedore, was charged formally with the murder on Monday in the Magistrate's Court, although no evidence that a murder had been committed was offered during the four-minute hearing.

Camb was ordered to be held without bail until next Monday. Gibson, red-haired and pretty, disappeared from the ship, Durban Castle, early on Oct. 18 while it sailed through equatorial waters near the African coast.

In London, legal authorities declined to discuss the law in relation to a murder case, in which no body of the victim has been produced, explaining that with such a case under consideration in a British court, discussion might prejudice the defendant's case.

One London newspaper, however, recalled on a separate page from its report of Camb's accusation—that, in 1782, George Hindmarsh, a sailor, was convicted of murder on an accusation alleging that he slew the captain of a ship and pitched the body into the sea.—Associated Press.

KRA Want A Tailor

The Kowloon Residents' Association, at the request of members, are approaching Government with a suggestion that a Kowloon tailor be appointed to make Government suits for residents on the mainland, the "China Mail" understands.

It was disclosed yesterday that Tak Cheong, the sole Government-appointed tailor, has received orders to the number of 2,000, and that the pace of output is such that the orders may take two or three months to fill.

Complaint of K.R.A. members working in Kowloon is that they have no time after office hours to join queues on the Hong Kong side.

Mikolajczyk Said To Be In Stockholm

London, Oct. 27.
Britain will grant asylum to M. Stanislaw Mikolajczyk "in accordance with traditional British policy" to political refugees if the Polish peasant leader, reported to have disappeared from Poland, arrives in Britain, the Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Mr. Christopher Mayhew, stated in the House of Commons today.

In Warsaw, a Polish Foreign Office spokesman said today that "it appeared" that the flight of the Peasant Party leader was aided by a foreign power.

Spokesman

The spokesman, Gen. Wiktor Grosz, answered affirmatively to a press conference question whether "circumstantial evidence indicated help by a foreign power."

Grosz said the Polish Government "is not interested in where Mikolajczyk is as much as how he left—if that is the case." — Reuter and United Press.

Two-Fold Choice On U.S. Aid To Europe

Washington, Oct. 28.
The Administration will present Congress next month with a two-fold choice—a $20,000,000,000 Marshall Plan for European reconstruction, or heavy and urgent spending to prepare national defence for any eventuality.

It is learned that since President Truman called Congress into special session for Nov. 17, the administration thinking has crystallized on these three major factors:

(1) The Marshall Plan costs to the United States may run as high as $20,000,000,000 for the 1948-1952 period. The administration feel this cannot be trimmed by any considerable extent without making aid simply another "international handout" that would have little or no lasting results.

(2) Those who eventually administer the plan must have broad latitude on where reconstruction materials from wheat to steel can be purchased and how they can be distributed. This may mean a bitter clash if Congress shows a disposition to insist that all United States credits be spent for American goods.

(3) The choice the returning Congressmen will face is of reinforcing Western Europe against what President Truman termed "totalitarian pressures" and the readiness of this nation's own defences.—United Press.

Mother Of Missing Pilot In Shanghai

Shanghai, Oct. 28.
Mrs. Moore, a graying woman wearing a brave little hat topped by a funny curling feather, arrived in China after a 13,000-mile flight from Washington, D.C., to wait for word of her only son, believed a prisoner of Chinese Communists.

Diminutive-looking, fresh, and cheerful, she was almost completely ignored by a small crowd of reporters and photographers, who had come to the airport to meet China's Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh, who arrived in Shanghai from Tokyo aboard the same plane.

"I am hopeful and cheerful," she told her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harry Moore.

"I've seen too many tragedies in other people's lives not to be," she added with a smile.

Mrs. Moore's son, Captain Harley Moore, CATC pilot, has been missing since his plane was forced to land in Communist territory in North China October 17.

He is presumed to be held captive, together with two Chinese crew members.

Mrs. Moore during the war was Assistant Red Cross Field Director, attached to the Armed Forces, and went out on many mercy missions doing disaster relief work. "That's why I'm not giving up hope," she said.—Associated Press.

OPIUM IN BEESWAX

The 540 taels of raw opium which Preventive Officers found concealed in large casks of beeswax on October 10 last on board the s.s. "Empire Wyo" were ordered to be confiscated by Mr. Conklin at the Central Magistrate's Court yesterday.

The beeswax, which weighed 140 lb. was also confiscated.

Qantas Sets New Pacific Record

Sydney, Oct. 28.
The Trans-Pacific total flying time record of 43 hours was broken by a Queensland and Northern Territory Air Service (QANTAS) Constellation airliner on Monday.

The plane, named after Sir Charles Kingsford Smith, the flying pioneer, landed at the Kingsford Smith Airfield, Sydney, after a flight from Burbank, California, in 42 hours 53 mins.

The route flown was practically the same as that chosen by Kingsford Smith in the "Southern Cross" in 1931 when he flew the Pacific in 65 hours 38 mins.—Associated Press.

Chinese Plans For Jap Peace

Nanking, Oct. 27.
China intends to submit proposals to the 11-power conference on the Japanese peace settlement for a 30-year control of Japan, according to a high official of the Foreign Office tonight, speaking on the final draft of China's policy for the forthcoming peace treaty.

Another clause in the proposals states that China wishes to see the industrial production of Japan based on the needs of the Japanese people which will not conflict with China's industrial development.

China disagrees with the plan of Mr. Edwin Pauley, Chief of the Far Eastern Commission, on the subject of reparations and states that China expects full measure for material and personal loss throughout the eight years of Chinese resistance to Japanese aggression.—Reuter.

London Stock Exchange

London, Oct. 27.
With little to be gleaned from weekend press news, operators have shown no inclination to take any active interest in the stock markets.

The proximity of the new account, which starts on Wednesday, has also acted as a deterrent.

The only outstanding feature has been the sharp decline in South African gold mining issues.

This has been accelerated by the serious position of the New Union group, which was recently taken over by the Anglo-Transvaal Consolidated.

A statement, issued by the Anglo-Transvaal, reveals that the New Union had borrowed £5,000,000 from its associated companies which was to have been repaid on demand.

The statement adds that the re-

Urban Council Meeting
The Secretary for Chinese Affairs, Mr. R. R. Todd, was appointed an additional member of the Urban Council's Select Committee to deal with hawkers, at the Council's fortnightly meeting yesterday.
At the same meeting two applications for an Enting House licence were rejected. The premises of the applicants were unsuitable.
The Urban Council's report for September, tabled at yesterday's meeting, disclosed that during the month under review 42 applications for licences were received and considered; 19 licences were issued; 12 were renewed or issued to hawkers in Hong Kong, and 15 in Kowloon.
In the same period, 41 market stalls were let out, 34 leases cancelled and two surrendered by the lessees.
Twenty-five dogs were sent by the Police to the Kennedy Town slaughter-house for observation and 30 to the Ma Tau Kok slaughter-house for the same purpose.

St. Andrews Club Dance

The dance to be held by St. Andrews Club, from 8 p.m. to midnight on Nov. 8, as part of their contribution to the Church Restoration Funds, promises to be a real gala affair, according to the arrangements decided upon at the Extraordinary General Meeting held last night.
Chairman J. H. Ogilvie (Vicar) announced that he had offered of free services from two bands. The musicians, said the Vicar, when asked what they would charge for their services, replied: "It is high time that people realise that there is much more pleasure in giving free services to a good cause than getting paid for it."
During the intervals, variety items (such as bagpipe selections, accordion solos and songs) will be presented by volunteer helpers. In this connection, Mr. L. C. Millington, the Secretary, would be glad to hear from anyone willing to contribute to the gaiety of the evening. Mr. Millington can be contacted at Revenue Office, Kowloon (Tel. 56012).
As at the Garden Fete, volunteer helpers will attend to the needs of those present. Souvenirs will be given for practically every dance. Admission, by tickets obtainable at the Fete, or at the

Only One Arm Was No Handicap

Having only one arm was no handicap to 20-year-old Chai Hung, who together with Chau Kau, two years younger, scaled backyard walls to steal heavy electric motor pumps.
Yesterday the couple was charged with the theft of four motor pumps, three from houses in Happy Valley and one from No. 6 Stubbs Road.
Defendants were traced after they had sold the Stubbs Road motor to a man in Wan Chai.
When arrested they confessed to three previous thefts. One of which occurred in September last year.
The prosecuting officer, Sub-Inspector D. G. MacPherson, told the Magistrate they were very helpful in the police in subsequent investigations into the case.
Accused were each sentenced to six months' hard labour.

S'hai Soccer Team Services' Loses 2-1

The Combined Shanghai Chinese team, on the way home after a very successful tour of Bangkok and Malaya, did not impress in their first game in Hong Kong yesterday. They were beaten by the Combined Kowloon Club by two goals to one at Kowloon.

The game was one of the scrappiest seen this season on the Police ground and was devoid of thrills or good play.
The Combined Kowloon side was a representative one though not the best and had its forwards taken advantage of the opportunities offered would have won by a larger margin.
Howlett led the forwards in grand style and crowned an afternoon's work with the winning goal. Lee Shek-yu was another good forward but the rest did not do well at all. Lee Tai-wah, on the right wing, wasted many chances. Tang Yee-Kit was never dangerous.
The best player in the defence was Lee Kwok-wai. His excellent positioning and first-time clearance prevented the Shanghai forwards from becoming dangerous.
The Shanghai forwards were weak and seldom tested Tang in goal. It was only in the closing stages of the game that Tang had some work to do but he was never in difficulties.
Howlett played one of his worst games in Hong Kong and was out-positioned and beaten often. Mang Yee-liang found the hustling methods of Howlett disconcerting and could not assist his forwards.
At back Ng Kee-cheung was the better of the two.

Midfield Play
For the greater part of the first half play was confined to midfield, several promising movements being spoilt by the slowness of both forwards.
Hongkong took the lead through Lee Tin-fat but before the interval Lee Yue equalised.
Shanghai was on the defensive most of the second half and after he had missed chances Howlett scored from close in.
Shanghai—Chang; Ng and Tan; Ko, Man, and Honnibal; Sai, Han, Lee and Sun, Lee Yue, Kowloon—Tang; Lee Kwok-wai and Lal Wah; Leung Sheung-chee, Hung Ying-yuk and Colloco; Lee Tai-fai, Lee Tin-fat, Howlett, Tang Yee-Kit and Lee Shek-yu.

The card on the Cambridge-shire running on Wednesday over one mile one furlong at Newmarket was called over at the Victoria Club here tonight.
The quotations were: 11 to 2 Mighty Maharratta, 21 to 2 Wood Chat and Vagabond II, 20 to 1 Law Suit, 22 to 1 Master Volt and Fine Prospect, 28 to 1 Fairley Fulmar, Rei D'Atout and Wild Child, 33 to 1 Glass Case, 40 to 1 Royal Tara, Simeo, Early Harvest and Admiral's Yarn, 60 to 1 Domino, Golden Chance and Toronto, 66 to 1 Abouenadhem, All Red, Dancing Flame, Lord Nelson, Ouragan VII, Red Flag, Stardom and Port-manteau, all taken and offered, 100 to 1 offered any other.

Once again the amounts involved were not disclosed.
Twenty-seven horses were quoted and substantial business was transacted.
A feature of the betting was the cutting of the odds against the Northern-trained filly, Wood Chat, from 25 to 1 to 100 to 1.
The odds against Tito Street and Claro contracted, both finishing joint second favourites at 21 to 2.
There will be a final callover tomorrow evening.—Reuter.

Another 471 deaths from cholera were officially reported in Egypt today. New cases now total 893.—Reuter.

Stage Club Notes
The Stage Club certainly do not believe in wasting time, for with "Hay Fever" only just finished another play is being cast tonight in the Missions to Seamen at 8.30 p.m. The play to be cast is "An Inspector Calls" a new play by J. B. Priestley and it is to be put on in the first week of December with a gala opening night in aid of the Boys and Girls Association.
There are parts for three women and four men in this play and in view of the short time left for production it is more than ever important to have the play cast up to hilt and ready for rehearsal after tonight's casting. Desmond Scott, who is producing, is also somewhat anxious about the length of his stay in the Colony and doubly keen to get down to it in thorough fashion.
Although there are no great number of parts to be cast, very few of the Stage Club 'old guard' look like being available for this production as the morality play, "Everyman" is being done in the Cathedral at the end of November and this makes the casting-meeting for "An Inspector Calls" a more favourable opportunity for newcomers than has yet occurred.

Money Market
After keeping steady for the last three days gold once again took the up grade yesterday, after opening at $337.50 a tael. At the peak it was $344.75 but eased off somewhat to $341.25 at the close.
Plastics opened at $11.32 1/4, a 100 but after rising five points it declined to $11.17 1/4, rose again to $11.17 1/4 at the close.
Chinese National Currency kept to the previous day's level and closed at 60 cents for futures, and 67 1/2 cents for spot (for CN$10,000).
U.S. dollars climbed to $43.23, while Sterling declined to $12.51. Australian pounds were unchanged at $12.51.

RED-LETTER DAY FOR H.K. ROTARY

Mr. S. Kendrick Guernsey, President of Rotary International, with Mrs. Guernsey, were fêted at a luncheon at the Hong Kong Hotel Roof Garden yesterday by the local Rotary Club.

It was Ladies' Day, and there was a large sprinkling of women among the gathering of over 200.
H.E. the Governor, an honorary member of the Club, with Lady Grantham were present. Other honorary members present were Vice Admiral Sir Denis Boyd and Lady Boyd, Air Commodore S. N. Webster, Sir Henry Blackall, Police Commissioner D. W. MacIntosh, the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo and Professor Robertson. The GOC was unable to be present owing to indisposition, but Mrs. Erskine deputised.
After the President, Dr. F. I. Tseung, had welcomed Rotarians Arthur Wro and Gordon King, who have been away in the United States, District Governor Dr. Li Shu-fan introduced Rotary International President Guernsey to the gathering.

Dr. Li said it was a red letter day for Hong Kong Rotary, as it was the first occasion that the Colony had a visit from a Rotary International President.

Press Headlines
President Guernsey deplored Press headlines on the discord and lack of achievement of UNO, and emphasised that the task of bringing goodwill and understanding among peoples of the whole world could not be accomplished in a day. One hundred and fifty years ago, when the thirteen states of America, tried to get together and form a common government, it took the delegates eleven years to accomplish their task. "And this among people of our own blood. How much bigger the task when we have to bring the peoples of the entire world together," continued President Guernsey who urged patience with, and confidence in, UNO.

Since he took over office as International President, continued Mr. Guernsey, he had made the rejuvenation of old Rotary enthusiasm and the inspiration of new enthusiasm his object, and he had circulated all clubs throughout the world that in the admission of new members everyone must be consecrated in the high ideals of unselfish service.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Hong Kong Rotary Vice-President W. G. H. Woodhead, C.B.E., who said the fact that Rotary was suppressed in aggressive countries before World War II testified to the role Rotary plays in international friendship and understanding. He regretted that it is still banned in certain countries today.

Friendship
President Guernsey dwelt on the growth of Rotary International and said that today wherever there was a desire for international friendship and fellowship, there was Rotary.

Rotary grew out of a desire for fellowship and mutual understanding. Because of its spectacular growth, some people had tried to attach mysticism to its development, but in fact, said President Guernsey, there was nothing mysterious about it at all. It just grew out of the natural desire of men for friendship and fellowship.

He compared the objects of Rotary with those of the United Nations Organisation, and urged Rotarians to strive to advance and propagate those ideals of fellowship, understanding and service, which alone would prevent the world from plunging into another disastrous war, the consequences of which, in this atomic age, he would not like to prophesy.

"If there should be a third world war," said President Guernsey, "it would not like to guess what weapons would be used, but I could tell you what weapons would be used after World War II testified to the role Rotary plays in international friendship and understanding. He regretted that it is still banned in certain countries today."

Woodcock Has To Face Operation
Leeds, Oct. 28.
The Leeds Infirmary announced today that British and European heavyweight boxing champ Bruce Woodcock is under a specialist's care for an eye injury and an operation may be necessary.
Woodcock suffered the injury which doctors believed was caused by a bit of stone while working in a quarry to toughen his muscles. He underwent an examination on Saturday and has been ordered to take a week's rest.
The champ's jaw was broken several months ago by the American heavyweight Joe Baksi in a London bout and has made no ring appearances since.
Promoter Jack Solomons said he was going ahead with plans for Woodcock to make his first post-Baksi, ring appearance at Harringay Arena on Dec. 9 against an opponent still to be chosen.—Associated Press.

Tai Wo on Monday, Chinese trader Chung Lam failed to appear at the Central Court yesterday to answer the charge. His bail of $200 was excreased, and the tin-plates, valued at $2,000, were confiscated.

QUEENSLAND BEAT NEW SOUTH WALES
Brisbane, Oct. 28.
In an exciting finish, Queensland beat New South Wales by two wickets in their Sheffield Shield Match, which was concluded here today.
Hoping to force an outright victory, A. Nodda sportingly cleared the New South Wales second innings at the overnight score of 270, leaving Queensland to get 268 to win in 310 minutes. This they did with 15 minutes to spare. The last 10 runs took 35 minutes.
A. G. Smith 60 by Oll Brown. Queensland's Test opening batsman playing in his first match after a year's absence from big cricket, followed by a stand of 88 by two other players, made the last wicket fall.
The final scores were: New South Wales 281 and 279 for seven declared, Queensland 290 and 268 for eight.—Reuter.
